

My family and I vigorously oppose Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to run "Stolen Honor" - which is, to borrow the words of a Sinclair executive, "politics masquerading as news" - a few days before the upcoming presidential election. We demand that the FCC publicly condemn Sinclair's actions, and/or force Sinclair to air a documentary with an opposing viewpoint to that given in "Stolen Honor".

Taking this course of action may help the FCC redeem itself for loosening regulations on the use of our airwaves by media conglomerates. If the FCC fails to act, it is complicit in the undermining of democracy and free speech at a crucial time in our history and shows disdain for the public's interest.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
